

TWEETYS IN A TREE

TWEETY TYPES
As listed in Mike Edelman & John LaSpina's "The Original Collector's Price Guide to Pez", 13th Edition, Spring 2002

DEFINITIONS
A PUPIL is a small cavity or hole in the center of a Tweety A eye; look for it at a low angle under a bright light.
An IRIS is the colored part of the eye and is yellow or blue for Tweety eyes.
An eye WHITE is the part of the eye that surrounds the iris. It is removable on Tweety A eyes; look inside Tweety's head to see the protruding posts that hold the whites in place.
A SUNKEN EYE is an eye set in an EYE SOCKET . The socket is deep and well defined for both Tweety A's and for Decal Tweety B; it is shallow for Painted Tweety B and is completely missing from subsequent issues.

OVERVIEW
Eye sockets w/ pupils = Tweety A
Eye sockets w/o pupils = Tweety B
No eye sockets, sunken lashes = Unlisted Tweety
Smooth head w/o hat = Tweety C
Smooth head w/ hat = Charming Tweety
